We are buginning to see things a little more clearly. Stocks, a spite of the paper currency, are daily retreating—but the incident arises from the belief, now very generally entertained, that the Executive at Washington, is resolved to restore specie sayments, so far as the transactions of the government are ned. The expected expansions by the banks, which the bion opened a door for, is not forthcoming. Many of the banks in this city are curtailing their circulation—buying seretly perhaps—and putting themselves gradually into reguable position. The Manhattan Bank has little or no apper in circulation, and it is daily curtailing its business discounts. We learn that the directors of this bank have the mirrory to come under the expension law. efused entirely to come under the new suspension law. Many expect that it will make an effort to restore specie payments in expect that it will make an effort to restore specie payments in a week—more or less. Seweral other of the Wall street banks begin to entertain a similar purpose.

With the aid and assistance of the government, many financiers believe they will be able to resume. The moral sense of the country is extremely hostile to the suspension, and any effort of any number of banks, under the patronage of the government. ment, to resume, would be encouraged and supported. The stockholders of the various banks, form another class that are very hostile to the continuation of the present state of things.— Their dividends being suspended, during the year, makes them desirous, that these institutions should renew.

It is very evident that if any concerted attempt be made to esume, it can only be tried by solvent and solid institutions. very partial success of such an attempt, would be the nain quarters there is an extraordinary degree of hostility towards any bank that would try to resume. The specula lators, and those who are deep in various engagements at the old prices, are extremely hostile to a resumption. It is also qually desirous to prevent such a movement. In consequence of this state of things, specie has deprecis

In the London packet about $400,000—in the Liverpool and in the Havre $250,000. About one third of this Bank, leaving probably in her sanits less than one million of dollars to eight millions of paper currency out. The trade is spe-cie has increased in Wall street very much during the last week. ce it is calculated that $2,500,000 of specietave left this port Europe, and that in the next month probably $5,000,000 varying from 6 to 10 per cent is an inducement for all the holder to part with it—particularly as, apparently at present prices pa in September. On this point we expect a terrible and furious war between the specie paying and non-specie paying banks. A large body of speculators, politicians, and bankers will endeavor to prove that the paper system is better and someter than the specie system—that it encourages industed with prosperity. No doubt a moderate tion-but I ansound, will embrace the opportunity to flood the country with paper money, for they will be supported by the paper money party. Already we know of several New England banks that ed, sent an agent to Wall street recently, and procured 000 in specie at a premium. If it means to return to specie payments, well and good-if not, the gold may be divided

SARSAPARILLA.—The CONCENTRATED COMPOUND SYRUP OF SARSAPARILLA, originally prepared by Dr. THOMAS STILLMAN, and which has received the sunction and approbation of the first medical practitioners in this as well as in other cities, is offered by the subscriber, who now prepares it, and who is now sole proprietor, to the medical gentlemen and the suffering community, as a preparation which for utility and beneficial effects has never, and can never be surpassed. In cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Ulcerated Sore Throat, Eryspiclas, and diseases of a like mature, its efficiency has been tested by thousands who have gratefully acknowledged its virtues. It is well known that all cases of cutaneous eruption arise from an impure state of the blood, and it acknowledged its virtues. It is well known that all cases of cutaneous eruption arise from an impure state of the blood, and it is as well known that any medicine which can restore the blood to its pure natural state, will forever drive them away, and effectually eradicate them from the system. Many are induced to try external applications, and for a brief period they may prove effectual, but eventually the disease, which has only been driven into the system, break out again with redoubled violence, and even those fall to drive it back. The CONCENTRATED COMPOUND SYRUP OF SARSAPARILLA is of all medicines the most effective in purifying the blood, and driving from the system humours and diseases, which lotions and ointments only serve to fix more firmly there. Gout and rheumatism, those two most invelerate enemies of man's peace, fall powerless before the wonderful effects of this valuable medicine, as certificates from hundreds who have been afflicted and who have tested its virtues, can testify. Many preparations of SARSAPARILLA have been within a short period palmed upon the public by quacks, who care not what injury may accrue so they vend their nostrums. But this truly delightful and purely VEGETABLLE PREPARATION, which be acterial. on the public by quacks, who care not what injury may accrue, so they vend their nostrums. But this truly delightful and purely VEGETABLE PREPARATION, which has stood the test of venrs, is none of those. The active principles of the SARSAPARILLA ROOT have been carefully preserved, without the deleterious articles which have been too frequently mixed with it, and the utility of that, as well as its efficacy, cannot be doubted. Those whose constitututions are broken down or debilistated by juvenile indiscretions, will find in this medicine a remedy which will effectually restore them to their pristine vigor, and obviate the ill effects of any injudicious treatment to which, through ignorance or malpractice they may have been exposed. As a general purifier of the blood, as a diet drink, and as an agreeable, pointable, efficacious predicine. nt to which, through ignorance or malpractice they may be been exposed. As a general purifier of the blood, as a t drink, and as an agreeable, paintable, efficacious medicine a Compound stands unrivalled—and as its superiority over all sparations of the kind stands unquestioned, numerous late empts have been made by unprincipled men to feist upon the blic, FORGERIES—weak, useles a trash, that can do no od, and which must do an immensity of injury to those upon iom it is imposed. To guard against these impositions, those shing to purchase this truly invaluable medicine, will ask for R. STILLMAN'S CONCENTRATED COMPOUND SY. UP OF SARSAPARILLA, each bottle of which will have a initials (T. S.) engraved on the sent, and without this none genome.

Entraorelinary Phenomenon.

NE OF THE GREATEST NATURAL CUoffice and the World.—BARTOLO, a boy of 9 years of age, enjoying, in every respect, perfect health, presents to the curious and to the scientific the most extraordinary case of hydrocephalus ever seen or heard of. This child's head, although regular in its features and natural functions, far surpasses, in size and bulk, any thing of the kind that can be conceived of in the human species. However, Bartolo was born in the Island of Porto Rico, and nothing was remarkable in his birth but his being twin-brother of a girl who died from a fall when two years sid, and who also had an enormous head, daily increasing in size, and exhibiting the same symptoms as that of her brother Bartolo.

This great natural curiosity will be exhibited to the public every day, from 10 o'clock, A. M., to half past 2, P. M., and every evening from 4½ to 10, at No. 3 Barclay street, near Astor's Hotel.

AMPRICAN TRANSPARENT WINDOW
BLINDS.—The subscriber respectfully informs the admirers of the fine arts, that he has just received for sale, transparent blinds of a quality and beauty heretofore unknown. The materials of which they are made being as clear as glass, all passing objects can be easily discerned from the room, but still those from the outside cannot see into the room. Neither have they the unpleasant smell which the printed blinds have.

The patterns are drawn with the same perfection as they may be seen in France or Italy. Any criters can be executed after the latest fashions, being in use in those countries, and in the most modern styles of the American Plastic Ornaments.

These Blinds are particularly adapted to parlors and sitting rooms in new built houses of the city and country.
